

YORK SPRINGS WOMAN HURT AS TRUCK HITS TREE

Mrs. Marie Brinkerhoff, York Springs, is a patient in the Annie M. Warner hospital here with a gash in the right side of her face that required 32 stitches to close. The injury was received in an accident that occurred about 7 o'clock near New Chester Thursday evening when a panel truck operated by her husband, Charles R. Brinkerhoff, was forced off the road.

The machine ran into a ditch and the body of the truck struck a tree. A splintered bow of the truck top pierced Mrs. Brinkerhoff's face as she rode in the rear part of the machine. Her husband and her mother-in-law, Mrs. C. F. Brinkerhoff, also of York Springs, escaped injury.

Occupants of the car said that another machine had approached at a high speed and without lowering its headlight beams sped by nearly in the center of the road. Brinkerhoff drove to the right side to avoid a collision with the car.

No one in the Brinkerhoff car had an opportunity to notice the make, color or license number of the car that had forced them off the roadway.

Mrs. Brinkerhoff was brought to the hospital here by Crosby Hartzell, Gettysburg, who arrived at the scene a short time after the accident occurred.

Wires Endanger Couple

A Frederick couple had narrow escapes from death or serious injury from two causes Thursday evening when their car was forced off the Lincoln highway about three miles east of here. Mrs. Sophia Weener, 36, Rosemont avenue, Frederick, was at the wheel and her husband, Herman Weener, was an occupant of the machine.

The couple reported that after their car had been forced off the highway it struck an electric line pole, snapped it off and then ran into a field where it rolled over three times while high tension electric lines fell to the earth, and lay writhing and sputtering along the roadway until the current was cut at some time later.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Weener was able to describe the truck that they blamed for the crash and neither noticed the license number. The truck did not stop.

Mrs. Weener was unhurt and her husband's only injury was a bruised knee.

BICYCLES NEED
BELL, 2 LIGHTS,
BURGESS WARNS

Impressed with the accident hazard formed by bicycle riders whose vehicles are not equipped with head and tail lights and with a bell, horn or other warning device, Burgess Wilbur J. Stallsmith has asked Chief of Police Lloyd E. Wisler and other members of the borough police department to make a close check on all cycles in use here and issue warnings to riders who do not carry the necessary accessories.

It was said that there is a borough ordinance requiring bicycles used in the borough to be equipped with both horn or bell and proper head and tail lights. A number of cases have been reported to the officers where accidents were narrowly averted between automobiles and unlighted bicycles on town streets at night. It was pointed out also that pedestrians are in danger of being run down by cycles bearing down upon them in the darkness.

An examination was made this morning by Chief Wisler of more than 50 bicycles parked by school students at the public school buildings of the town. It was found that less than half of them had lights of any kind and others lacked horns and bells.

At the Lincoln school building there were 28 cycles and 16 of them did not have the proper equipment. At the high school building there were 11 bicycles and only five had satisfactory safety fixtures. One of three at the Meade school was found to bear lights and a bell.

The directors agreed to go forward with the solicitation of donations for the new building and stated that committees to handle the drive will be announced in the near future, probably at or before the next regular meeting of the board, October 8. Tentative committee lists were made at Thursday's session.

The generalissimo was visibly moved as he talked to American correspondents. His remarks were translated by Madame Chiang, his American-educated wife.

Shortly before, the official Chinese central news agency had expressed on behalf of the government appreciation for the American protests against Japanese bombardments of Nanking, adding a hope for more positive measures against the "slaughter of innocent non-combatants."

ITALY READY TO STOP SENDING
TROOPS TO SPAIN

London, Sept. 24 (AP).—An authoritative source asserted today Premier Mussolini had promised Britain and France he would send no more "volunteers" to Spain, making possible Italian entrance in the Anglo-French diplomatic front and a new balance of power for Europe. While Britain and France were keenly anxious to accept Italy's advances at face value they could not help but look for a possible snag. A definite feeling of optimism prevailed in foreign office circles but it was tempered by a slight suspicion of Il Duce's motives in presenting such a startling assurance regarding Spain.

His sudden willingness to promise that no further troops should be sent to aid the Spanish insurgents—coming on the eve of his departure for an important conference with Chancellor Hitler of Germany—caused many observers to wonder whether Italy was preparing some new and surprising move.

Some British observers—and Rome dispatches bore this out—were frankly considering Mussolini's gestures of co-operation with France and England as a method of strengthening his position to drive a harder bargain with Hitler.

The authoritative British source said that Italy had given both Britain and France a definite promise to no more Italian troops would go to Spain if the three powers could agree, among other things, on Italian demands for parity with Britain and France in the Mediterranean anti-piracy accord reached at Nyon.

This agreement was expected to be reached without difficulty in technical talks in Paris next week.

Reliable sources said "a satisfactory solution to the Spanish problem is in sight." Italy and Germany (Continued on Page Two)

BURIAL MISTAKE
STILL UNSOLVED

Chester, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP).—Police were without any further clue today to the identity of the man buried on September 14 as Otis Farr of this city.

The mother of Farr received a letter today signed Otis Farr and dated Flora Dale, in which the writer stated that he had heard a body identified as his had been buried at Church Hill, Maryland.

Several days ago postal cards bearing the name of Farr were received from Biglerville. They indicated Farr was working in an apple orchard.

The body buried as that of Farr was found on a doorstep here. Death was due to natural causes. A brother-in-law identified the body as that of Otis Farr.

Readin' and 'Rithmetic
Moved to Foot of Class

Harrisburg, Sept. 24 (AP).—Readin' and 'rithmetic moved today toward the foot of the class in the education world.

Myers gave this novel concept to Pennsylvania schoolmen at the closing session of a state education congress.

"During the four or five years that we now spend on arithmetic in the first grades," he said, "the usual number concepts would be learned in practical life anyway."

He would restrict arithmetic to the final two years of grammar

PLAN 8-COUNTY
CHURCH CLASSES

Plans for local schools in Christian living in the eight counties surrounding Harrisburg were made by field representatives of five state-wide agencies meeting in Harrisburg this week. These organizations include the Pennsylvania State Council of Christian Education; Pennsylvania Council of Churches; Pennsylvania Christian Endeavor union; Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

The counties in which the Harrisburg group will function are: Adams, Cumberland, York, Franklin, Perry, Lancaster, Dauphin and Lebanon.

These schools will provide a "Teaching Mission" to follow the "Preaching Mission" of last year. The first area-wide or master school will be held in Harrisburg November 15 and 16 in the Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal church, Fifth and Granite streets. To this school will come leaders and workers from the eight counties of the district, who will be trained to return to their local churches and communities and establish similar schools. Nationally known leaders in Christian education will direct the Harrisburg school. No registration fee will be charged for the school, which will be open to all interested persons.

The meeting opened at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon with a luncheon at the Cashtown inn and the talks by the state officers followed. Only routine business matters were handled.

The next meeting of the tri-county group will be held at Chambersburg in November. Officers will be elected at that session.

Zonies and Pichard came to Gettysburg Thursday morning and made a trip over the battlefield in company with President Britcher and Robert Saylor before the hour for the meeting.

CHINA'S LEADER SAYS U. S. IS JAP FOE UNDERPACTS

No Recognition for Japan
Washington, Sept. 24 (AP).—Whatever the outcome of the undeclared Sino-Japanese war, the United States will not recognize any new Japanese territorial claims in China if it adheres to its established foreign policies.

It was stressed today by informed observers, who recalled that the government has withheld formal diplomatic recognition of both the Japanese-dominated state of Manchukuo and Italian-annexed Ethiopia because they were acquired by force.

The principle of denying acknowledgment of such states as members of the family of nations has been followed consistently by the United States since 1915.

William Jennings Bryan, then Secretary of State, sought to forestall interference with American rights in China, threatened by Japan's aggressive 21 demands on the Chinese government, by warning both nations that the United States would not recognize any transgression of Chinese territory or sovereignty.

Whether or not this warning was responsible, Japan never pressed its demands.

Secretary Henry L. Stimson elaborated on the doctrine in a subsequent crisis in Chinese-Japanese relations, applying it with such vigor that it later was adopted by the League of Nations and incorporated in a formal treaty.

Chinese Base Surrounded

Peiping, Sept. 24 (AP).—The Japanese army surrounded the strategic Chinese base of Paotingfu, 80 miles south of here, today and issued an ultimatum to the Chinese army to surrender or be annihilated.

The Japanese high command reported the 50-foot high walls of the ancient city of 100,000 people had been broken through in a dawn attack. The second Chinese division, commanded by Chenk Tung-Kuo, manning the wall, was said to be fighting desperately but the continuous Japanese artillery bombardment was too much.

In mid-afternoon, Japanese military authorities announced that the Chinese defenders had been driven from the north, south and west gates in fierce hand-to-hand fighting.

(A communique issued by the Japanese army in Tokyo announced that Paotingfu had been captured).

Other Chinese troops were reported fleeing to the southwest along the railway from Peiping to Hankow.

The Japanese were bringing tanks and heavy artillery to support the infantry attack. The American Presbyterian mission is just outside the north wall where the battle raged.

No word had been received as to whether the American workers had withdrawn before the battle swept all around the city's wall. The American board mission establishment was believed to be outside the battle zone as yet.

The fall of Paotingfu, the capital of Hopeh province, was considered by observers as likely to mean that Chinese resistance in north China was broken and be the probable signal for a Japanese-controlled administration for the whole region.

Japs Bomb Hankow

Shanghai, Sept. 24 (AP).—Nine Japanese planes today bombed Hankow, the great port of the middle Yangtze river valley, killing approximately 100 persons and wounding twice as many.

The raiders, apparently trying to destroy the big army arsenal in Hanyang, dropped three large bombs on crowded city districts, two in the driver near the British Aphis and others in the surrounding country. About 100 buildings were damaged.

Hankow is 600 miles up the Yangtze from Shanghai. Hanyang is separated from the main city by the Han river. These two cities, with Wuchang, across the Yangtze, make up the Wuhan cities, greatest commercial and industrial community of central China.

In Shanghai, the worst cholera epidemic in the city's history was reported spreading through Japanese army units attacking Chinese defense lines to the northwest.

About 200 Japanese troops were said to have died of the dread plague in the Paoshan sector, 20 miles northwest of Shanghai, on the extreme northwestern flank of the battle front.

An additional 300 have been definitely established to have the disease.

Chinese military authorities reported that a fierce three-day battle at Lotien, just a few miles toward Shanghai from Paoshan, and wiped out five of the six battalions in the Japanese Takashi detachment.

Japanese naval authorities again warned all Americans and other foreigners in Nanking to stay clear of the military objectives which they said Japanese war planes would continue to bomb.

YOUTH PLAYING 'TOUGH' SHOOTS TEACHER, SELF

Toledo, O., Sept. 24 (AP).—Police saw today in the shooting of Miss June Mapes, 59, Arlington school principal, by Robert Snyder, 12-year-old pupil, the picture of a boy temporarily demented by hallucinations of "toughness as a gangster."

"I feel sorry for the boy and his parents," the principal, lying in Toledo hospital with a bullet wound through her groin, told Police Sergeant A. W. Barnhart. "I would rather that nothing more were said about it." Her condition was reported as favorable.

The boy was in a serious condition in Mercy hospital with a bullet wound through his head which Barnhart said was self-inflicted.

Detective Lieutenant Ralph Murphy, head of the homicide squad, said he was told by James Foltz, 12, close friend of the Snyder boy, that Robert recently had been listening to radio programs based on crime, and reading bandit stories. Murphy said his investigation led him to believe the boy, armed with his father's automatic pistol, wanted to demonstrate his "toughness" in the fact of authority, to a pretty little classmate.

There was no available information, Murphy said, to indicate any other motive for the shooting which occurred at 2 p. m. Thursday in the principal's office.

SEATTLE MAN NOT DINGER

Harrisburg, Sept. 24 (AP).—The "Dinger case" again became just another job at headquarters of the Pennsylvania motor police today. Word from Seattle that the down-and-out-er slain by a deputy sheriff was not Howard Dinger, insane killer, sought by Pennsylvania for two years, sent state investigators back to the rather routine inquiry they have followed since the Dauphin county farmhand got away from Fairview hospital for the mentally defective, and vanished.

ITALY READY TO STOP SENDING TROOPS TO SPAIN

The fact that the Italian gesture involved a reversal of Rome's hitherto "aggressive policy" caused some British observers to believe it might have been dictated by Mussolini's wish to show Hitler that he did not have to rely on German friendship alone. Had Italy remained aloof from Britain and France, others pointed out, he would have found it harder to resist any demands Hitler might make, including realization of Nazi ambitions in Austria, as the price of German support.

In other words, as a diplomatic source in Rome phrased it, an Italian rapprochement with France and Britain would save Mussolini from appearing to Hitler somewhat like Europe's bad boy asking help.

On the other hand, some informed observers were inclined to accept the growing friendliness among Britain, France and Italy because of what they asserted were two strong factors:

1. Italian realization that she had passed the peak of her power in relation to Britain and France now that their huge rearmament programs had begun to take effect;
2. Mussolini is having trouble in Ethiopia and needs British friendship and recognition of his new empire to facilitate his government.

Mussolini was felt to be faced with making a choice between the two things he wants most but what are apparently irreconcilable—recognition of Ethiopia and victory for Franco.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Selling waves swept leading stocks overboard in today's market for losses running to four points generally, and much more in a few instances. Many issues dived to new lows in nearly two years with the ticker tape two minutes in arrears shortly after the opening.

GROWERS PLAN 2 PLANTS FOR APPLE CANNING

(Continued from Page One) urged growers to abandon the plan of picking by the bushel and pay by the hour or day. Paying by the bushel induces the picker to hurry, resulting in rough handling of trees and fruit with consequent damage. The average day wage being paid pickers was given at $2.50 and $3.

President Weigle reported he is informed that WPA labor is being furloughed from projects in order to be available for work in orchards during the apple picking rush.

C. J. Tyson, Henry Baugher and S. Luther Baltzley were named to a publicity committee to advertise in neighboring communities where pickers are not in demand that an apple crop is to be harvested here and that work is available.

Growers held estimates of the county, state and eastern United States apple crop to be greatly exaggerated in federal reports and set the 1937 Adams county crop at about equal to that of last year.

Says Adams Orchards are Cleanest

Dr. R. S. Kirby, extension pathologist from Pennsylvania State college, told the growers that among the counties of the state he has visited, Adams orchards have the cleanest fruit from scab. He said cedar rust is appearing in some sections and urged concerted action to get rid of the cedar trees in those neighborhoods. Black rot, Doctor Kirby said, has been definitely traced to dead limbs and twigs and warned of the need of careful pruning next winter.

John O. Pepper, extension entomologist from the state college, told orchardmen to leave poison bands on their trees until November 1 as a codling moth check.

County Farm Agent M. T. Hartman asked early selection of above-average fruit for use in making up the exhibit to be placed by the county association at the state farm show at Harrisburg next January, when an attempt will be made to repeat last year's performance when first prize went to the Adams exhibit.

Carl Shultz and Elmer Snyder, Lancaster county growers, visitors at the meeting, were presented to the growers.

The attendance Thursday evening was said to be the largest ever counted at a meeting of the association.

More Boys Seek Bicycles From Philanthropist

Pittsburgh, Sept. 24 (AP).—Adam Bretch thought he had made peace with roller skaters in front of his home by buying 10 neighborhood boys new bicycles, but his troubles really started with the gifts.

The bicycles eliminated 10 pairs of skates, but the number of skaters has doubled since the gifts were made.

The 76-year-old philanthropist has started action against several boys who were missed in the distribution of bicycles.

"One boy drags tin cans along the street as he skates," Bretch asserted. "Four others dance a jig on their skates in front of the house and jeer at me."

Alderman Thomas J. Whalen, before whom Bretch made information charging six of the offenders with disorderly conduct, said:

"It looks like the kids want him to give them bicycles too."

PRISON WARDEN DIES

Sacramento, Sept. 24 (AP).—Warden C. A. Larkin, 46, of Folsom prison, died today of infection from stab wounds he received in last Sunday's riot at the penitentiary. He was the fourth victim of the riot, for which five surviving convicts are under indictment for murder. Two convicts and a guard were killed in the escape attempt.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES in Germany was this sky swastika formed by planes of the Nazi airforce as a tribute to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler. Glory that once belonged to the nation in days of the famed "flying circus" is slowly being regained with the renaissance in aviation.

THERE'S ANOTHER MIX UP in the saddle, riding into motion pictures. This time it's Ruth, 24-year-old daughter of the famous cowboy star, Tom. Able to ride, rope and handle a gun like a veteran of the range, she'll be a real western heroine. Her earnings will go toward more land and saddle for her Arizona ranch.

YANKEES CLINCH A. L. PENNANT; TERRYMEN WIN

(By The Associated Press)

New York's diamond embroidery society got down today to the serious business of winding up its second straight pennant stitching monopoly.

The Yankees, who use bats for needles and homers for thimbles, had the American league flag all sewed up. The Giants, somewhat slower on the fancy work, but apparently heading for the same results, were rapidly completing their hemstitching on the National league flag.

And the embroidery society's very good friends, the Bronx baseball cheering and chowder club, was all set to whoop it up in another exclusive civil war of the diamond for little old New York, come world series time, October 6.

The Giants were 3½ games ahead as a result of their wild and woolly win over the Cubs Thursday, and were riding along back to the comparative quiet of the east. With the Atlantic seaboard's usual soft touches—the Dodgers and Phillies—ahead, Bill Terry's "Terriers" shouldn't have much trouble keeping some kind of an edge down to the tape, although a four-game series with the Boston Bees and their pitching stringers may do a lot of damage.

The Giants' victory by an 8 to 7 margin Thursday in the rubber match of the crucial three-game set with the Cubs produced the dampest battle of the lot. Despite a 17-hit New York attack, Terry had to trot out all four of his starting pitchers before the Chicago clouters surrendered. Finally, long, lean and lanky Cliff Melton, the south-paw rookie who applied a six-hit coat of whitewashing in Wednesday's game, was called on to save the day. And he did—by retiring the final two Cub batters in the ninth, with one run in, the tying and winning runs on base. Although he lasted less than two innings, Carl Hubbell was given official credit for the victory, his 21st of the year.

The Yankees, meantime, although taking a 9-5 beating themselves at the hands of the St. Louis Browns, had the pleasure of watching an old ex-Yankee, Ben Chapman, clinch the American league pennant for them. Chapman, who loses no love for the Yanks, hit a homer with two on in the ninth inning, which gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-3 decision over Detroit and eliminated the second-place Tigers from the pennant chase.

The win boosted the Red Sox back into fourth place in the American league. The Cleveland Indians, finding Washington's rookies too much for them, were beaten, 3-2, and sank to fifth.

Jim Turner hurled win No. 19 as the Boston Bees nosed out the Pirates, 2-1. Don Padgett hit a Homer and two triples and led the Cardinals to an 8-4 win over the Brooklyn Dodgers. Dolph Camilli's homer with the bases loaded gave the Phillies a 9-5 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds, who used 22 players for a new National league record.

Johnny Whitehead won his own game for the White Sox by driving in the only run for a 1-0 edge over the Athletics.

Yesterday's Stars

Ben Chapman, Red Sox—His ninth-inning homer with two on base beat Tigers, 4-3.

Don Padgett, and Mike Ryba, Cardinals—Padgett hit homer, two triples, driving in three runs, as Ryba pitched four-hit shutout in 4-2-3 inning relief trick to beat Dodgers, 8-4.

Johnny Whitehead, White Sox—Blanketed Athletics, 1-0, with seven hits and drove in only run himself.

Dolph Camilli, Phillies—Hit homer with bases loaded in 9-5 win over Reds.

Joe Kraskauskas, Senators—Stopped Indians, 9-2, with nine hits.

Texas Christian Picked to Down Ohio State Eleven

By HERBERT W. BAKER

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—It's a trifle like popping away at a pugnacious puma with a cap-pistol, but this football guesser returns to the old stand hoping the pigskin parade holds to an even keel until a little authentic information can filter through the interesting, if true, contributions of the press agents.

Without further shilly-shally, this is how the opening program looks for this hopeful, but not confident, corner:

Ohio State-Texas Christian: Yes, Virginia, this is the 24th of September even if the game sounds more like a late November classic. That strange lack of bally-hoo from the Columbus sector may be ominous, but we'll take the Christians. Watch a lad named Dave O'Brien toss 'em around behind the Texans' 210-pound line.

Washington-Iowa: The coast conference champions of last year lost the Rose Bowl game, an entire backfield and three linemen but

—Looking Around—

EACH Friday during the football season this column will be primarily devoted to the attempt of picking more gridiron winners than losers, we hope. This week there are quite a few that are really difficult which will probably cause more than one headache. Here's our list, with our selections listed first:

*Bucknell—Ushrus.
Temple—V. M. I.
Ohio State—Texas Christian.
Penn State—Cornell.
California—St. Mary's.
Louisiana State—Florida.
Santa Clara—Stanford.
Vanderbilt—Kentucky.
Indiana—Centre.
Illinois—Ohio U.
Lehigh—Case.
Muhlenberg—Catawba.
Pittsburgh—Ohio Wesleyan.
Navy—William and Mary.
Southern California—College of the Pacific.
Shippensburg Teachers—Wilson Teachers.
Gettysburg—Charlestown.
Hershey—Mechanicsburg.
Chambersburg—Biglerville.
Shippensburg—Scotland.
Hanover—McSherrystown.

MORE than 40 candidates have reported to Coach "Hips" Wolfe and his assistant, "Bob" Sassaman, to battle for positions on the Gettysburg college freshman grid team. The entire group is tall and husky. Among the foremost who are making strong bids for berths are Al Hill, 165-pound tackle from Harrisburg academy; Wallace Wood, a son of W. W. "Bill" Wood, former Bullet coach; Ed Masseth, New Rochelle, New York; Harold Powers, Paulsboro, New Jersey; Joe Bratton, New Cumberland, all backs; George Barrett, Germantown end, and "Hen" Burman, Frankfort high. The Little Bullets will play five tilts. The schedule follows: October 2, Mercersburg academy; October 16, Muhlenberg frosh; October 29, Dickinson frosh; November 12, Drexel frosh, and November 20, Columbia high school.

The Gettysburg college soccer team, champions of the western division of the Middle Atlantic states soccer league last year, will open with Penn State on the latter's field October 2. Over 30 candidates are drilling each day under the direction of Coach Hartshorne.

the first-string outfit this year is tough. The choice is Washington.

California-St. Mary's: If this isn't California's year St. Mary's should be the first to discover it. The Gaels will average 198 in the line and 185 in the backfield and still will be outweighed. California, Stanford-Santa Clara: The Bucking Branches are hard to ride and Stanford may not be ready for this class of opposition. Stanford should be much stranger than a year ago, however, and this hunch vote rides with the Cardinals.

Cornell-Penn State: The material is flowing back to these former football powers. The Nittany Lions have come up with a veteran line and two fine backfields, but we'll take Cornell.

U. C. L. A.-Oregon: U. C. L. A. but the webfoot from the north are coast conference dark horses.

Temple-Virginia Military: Temple should provide 66-year-old Pop Warner with the 300th victory of his 43-year coaching career.

Illinois-Ohio University: Illinois' old master, Bob Zuppke, will try to show his one-time pupil, Don Pedden, a thing or two. The Illini, but it probably will be close.

Pittsburgh-Ohio Wesleyan: This Pitt array may be better than last year's, which spells bad news for the Methodists.

Minnesota-North Dakota State: The Gophers get touchdown practice.

Indiana-Centre: Not much to choose, but we'll take Indiana.

Navy-William and Mary: Doesn't look like more than a workout for the Tars.

Skipping over the chalkline otherwise: Duquesne picked over Wayneburg, Georgia Tech over Presbyterian; Dartmouth over Bat Presbyterian; Dartmouth over Bates; New York University over Penn Military; West Virginia over West Virginia Wesleyan, though not by much.

COUNTY NINES FACING SECOND PLAYOFF GAME

Gettysburg and Fairfield will meet in the second of a three-game series Saturday afternoon at Fairfield to determine the 1937 championship of the Adams county baseball league. The game is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

The local aggregation held two long workouts this week in an effort to reach top-notch form.

A boost for the Gettysburg outfit came as the result of "Wib" Moser, infielder, rejoining the team. Last Saturday the locals were sadly missing in infield material which slowed up play considerably. Moser's addition will enable Manager Burnger to put an experienced infield on the diamond which should prove beneficial.

Although no pitching selection has been announced for Saturday it would not be surprising if Johnny Slaybaugh went back on the mound for Gettysburg. He hurled capably last week and with better hitting support might have won.

Manager John Reindollar will undoubtedly stick with his lineup that performed so capably in the first game of the series. However, McGlaughlin may receive the pitching assignment instead of Rebert, who twirled the first tilt.

A victory for Fairfield will establish them as league champions while a victory for Gettysburg will necessitate a third and deciding game for the title.

Maroons To Face Charlestown In First Grid Game Saturday

King Football will take his throne locally Saturday afternoon when the Gettysburg high school football team clashes with Charlestown, West Virginia, on the Kurtz Memorial field at 2:30 o'clock in the opening game of the season.

The Gettysburg high school band, under the direction of Edwin Longenecker, will parade through the streets of the town prior to the game and will perform between halves.

Temporary bleachers have been erected on the south side of the field to assure ample seating capacity for the opening crowd.

A new addition at the field is a large wooden scoreboard, measuring eight by sixteen feet, at the east end of the gridiron. It is painted white with maroon numerals which will give the number of downs, yards to go and time of play remaining. It will be operated by hand.

Coach George Forney planned a light drill for this afternoon, consisting primarily of signal drill. The squad is in good physical shape.

College News

A total of eighty-two students at Gettysburg college have been pledged to the 10 national and single local fraternities. Local students who have been pledged include Robert Livesay, S. A. E., and John Earnshaw, Phi Delta Theta.

G. F. Barten was recently promoted to cadet major for the R. O. T. C. by order of Lieutenant Colonel L. L. Lampert, professor of military science and tactics.

The Chi Omega sorority has pledged 14 students including Ar-and will have its full strength.

Not much is known about the Charlestown eleven, but it is reported that it is made up of seasoned players who promise to give the Maroons a merry battle.

Officials for the game have been announced as being: Boyle, Muhlenberg; Snyder, Franklin and Marshall, and Wolff, Gettysburg.

lene Spangler, of Gettysburg. Edna Mae Black, Jean Culp and Sara Jane Sheffer, all of Gettysburg, and Eleanor Dill, Biglerville, have been pledged by Beta Lambda.

The Gettysburg college band of 42 pieces will sport new uniforms this year. Delivery of the new outfits is not expected until about October 23.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president, will address a meeting of the York chapter of the American Institute of Banking at the Yorktowne hotel this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The student council dance will be held Saturday, October 30. Theodore Norley, Quentin J. Florence and M. Edward Florence comprise the committee in charge.

BARNEY ROSS IS WINNER IN BOUT; THIL DEFEATED

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Three championship prizefights in one night, seems at this writing to be at least one championship prizefight too many. Especially if each of them goes the limit of 15 rounds without a knockdown and the feature event curls up and plays dead.

Thirty-two thousand, six hundred patrons sat through Thursday night's pugilistic extravaganza at the Polo Grounds, and when they finally stumbled out of the place some time this morning they were wondering if the new fistic czar, Make Jacobs, hadn't perhaps choked them with cream.

Barney Ross, a welterweight champion with a heart the size of a pumpkin, saved an otherwise uninspiring spectacle with a close and sory victory over Cefero Garcia, challenger from the Philippines. It would have been a great fight had it stood alone.

Harry Jeffra, a clean-cut, smiling lad from Baltimore, added a final nip when it was badly needed by winning the bantamweight championship of the world from sad-faced little Sixto Escobar, of Puerto Rico, on points.

The bout between Lou Ambers, rugged lightweight champion, and Pedro Montanez, a rashly over-exploited young man who owns a bar in Harlem, was the one that curled up. Ambers gave him an awful going-over in close, and it was a dreary thing to watch. Montanez, who had clouted the champion down in a previous over-weight affair, looked musclebound and weary at 135 pounds.

Marcel Thil, the bald Frenchman, made a considerable hit in the night's initial turn before he suffered a serious cut on his right eyelid and was declared the loser to Fred Apostoli, of San Francisco, early in the tenth round. The burly Marcel had a clear lead on points at the time Apostoli stabbed him and the blood began to spurt. He had put almost a permanent wave in his flashier opponent's mid-section.

Apostoli, so far as anybody knows for certain, doesn't hold any more championships now than he did before. Thil's European middleweight title wasn't at stake. You've got to be a European to win that one. He can, however, claim the world middleweight title if he wants to start an argument.

CHUBBY'S WALK

IN THE meantime the cub Chubby had walked and walked and walked. Sometimes he had felt so tired that he had had to stop and rest, and he had taken short, fitful naps from time to time. He had eaten a little now and again, but so much less than he usually did that he was already thinner.

He did not know where he was going, but he felt he could never return to Puddle Muddle. And yet he did not want to live anywhere else.
He felt he would just have to be a lonely, stray bear wandering on until he could wander no more.
He had thought so much that his head ached, for none of his thoughts had been happy ones.

Over and over and over and over again he had asked himself how he had been so terrible as to dash after the honey and then make for the pond without thinking of Rip. The dog had always been so kind to him.

Everyone in Puddle Muddle had been good to him. Honey Bear had always been a loving, devoted mother. She had always been fair to him. She had not made more of a fuss over Jupiter and Blacky than she had over him. But he knew, He understood. He was different—different from all of them.
It had showed that he was different when he could have let Rip become stung by those bees.

What was he going to do? Wander on and on and on. And so he
Puddle Muddle, but with every step he took with his four legs he wished he could be returning to Puddle Muddle.

Tomorrow—"Puddle Muddle Thoughts."

Board Approves Two
44-Hr. Week Changes

Harrisburg, 24 (AP)—Women in the undertaking or mail order businesses may work more than eight hours a day—but not more than 44 hours a week.

The Industrial board today approved new regulations under the women's 44-hour-week law.

It ruled that in the mail order business women may work 10 hours on one selected day a week, but are to be paid time and one-half time for the extra two hours. They also may spread the 44-hour week over six instead of 5½ days as provided in the law.

In the undertaking business women who assist in embalming and conducting funerals may work more than eight hours a day or 5½ days a week—but not more than 44 hours —provided all hours over eight in one day shall be paid for at the rate of time and one-half time.

Today's Talk

INDIFFERENCE

THE dominant people are not always people who are always right—not by any means. But they are people who are not indifferent to others and to the ideas of others.

We live in a world that is full of beauty and good people. On the other hand, we live in a world that has all too much poverty, heartache and tragedy in it. To this no man should be indifferent, no matter how well clothed and housed he may be.

I like people with me to share the happiness and the beauty around me. On a drive many years ago, I had by me a stranger who was sent to me to entertain. I took him into the hills and glorious country a few miles from the little town in which I lived. As the day waned, a remarkable sunset appeared. It seemed to be like a great smile, hovering about the horizon. I hoped for the same emotion that stirred me to take effect upon my guest. But not a word. Finally I said: "Isn't that a marvelous sight!" The only reply was: "Oh, I guess it is all right."

Among the major sins of this world I would place among the first—indifference. Indifference to beauty, to the rights of others, and to the unfortunate situations of others.

Indifference is what is emptying the churches of the world, killing independent thought, and putting into the hands of the few, that for which the many are hungering. Indifference is what gives to our cities misrule, allowing graft and viciousness to rule.

People fail, largely because they are indifferent to success and to a useful life.

You, who have a job, take it seriously. Make it a real job to you.
Make it a development that should, and can, develop you. Jobs feed the ones who feed them.

Make no mistake about this: You can neither be successful, happy, nor earn any measure of contentment, without taking a deep and enthusiastic interest in what you do, what you and others think, and in playing your part in making this a better world.

THE DARK SHIPS

By HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Neill, a young federal agent finds his beloved Janet, a gun and Prescott Fanning's freshly shot body locked in a cabin on Fanning's yacht at Absalom's Harbor, Md. Neill hides her nearby in a disused linen, then joins Mark Bonniger, local investigator, Neill learns Janet didn't shoot the flashy swindler, but has to find out how to save her. He suspects the Buckless, Fanning's hulking bodyguard, is arrested, Neill also distrusts Kettering, a lawyer down from Baltimore to fish. Buckless casts suspicion on Neill who knows he is in a tight spot.

Chapter 35

The Eyster Saga

Once again Neill and Bonniger met at the breakfast table before any of the other guests of the hotel came down stairs. Neither had more than a couple of hours' sleep. Bon-niger's manner was still outwardly friendly, but the warmth that Neill had had a glimpse of was gone. He said:

"I see that you have the same idea as me. It's the early bird that gets the ham and eggs."
"That's right," said Neill. "When the mob charges, staff-work in the kitchen breaks down."
Bonniger went on: "Our first job is to check this tough guy Buckless' alibi."

Neill was surprised. "Our first job! Evidently Bonniger expected to catch him up by making believe that nothing was changed. Neill became wary.

"Suppose you and I make a quick trip to Baltimore for that purpose?" Bonniger went on. "If we start as soon as we finish eating, we can get back here almost before we are missed."

"Sure," said Neill. He thought: He doesn't mean to let me out of his sight.

They set out in one of the police cars before the village was up and doing. Constable Mattingly drove them. Mattingly, a fine physical specimen like all his mates, was pretty sheepish as a result of his escape up the road the night before, and anxious to make good. He drove like a streak.

From the corner of the back seat,
Bonniger conversed in his grave fashion. Avoiding all reference to the case at hand, he was trying to draw Neill out as to his past life.
He was like a keen-eyed surgeon,
scalpel in hand, and Neill in order to protect himself let his head nod as if he found it impossible to keep awake. Bonniger finally let him alone and Neill, with his eyes closed, mullied over his own problems. All depended on whether Buckless' alibi would stand up.

The address furnished by Buck-less led them to the modest office of J. Harvey Brager, a young man who combined the occupations of yacht broker, shipping agent and dealer in marine supplies.

"Sure I sold Ira Buckless the yacht Nadj," he said, "and that's where my responsibility begins and ends. I never met Fanning."

He went on to describe the trip to Absalom's on Tuesday night, corroborating Buckless in every particular. "I am a methodical kind of fellow and I made a note of the time.
We filled up at the gasoline station on Hanover street at 8:25 and I left Buckless in Absalom's at 10:20. I was back home in Baltimore at 12:15."

"They left him. So Buckless' alibi was water tight. Neill was badly let down, and perhaps Bonniger also.
As Buckless was cleared, his manner towards Neill hardened.

"That eliminates Buckless. We know that the movies were out at 10:15, and that the crew immediately returned aboard the yacht.
Fanning was shot before Buckless arrived on the scene."

It was scarcely necessary to go to the filling station. But they did, and the story was confirmed.

The Detective's Report

They sat in the car to discuss the next move. Bonniger said: "To me there's something queer in the story this fellow Eyster told. But since you and he have both testified that you spent Tuesday evening together,
I reckon there's no use trying to pin anything on him."

Neill guessed from the dryness of his tone that Bonniger was only trying to draw him. He said nothing.

He felt now that Eyster must be their man, but he could not say so.

"Anyhow let's check up Eyster's story," said Bonniger.
This suited Neill. He didn't care if he was proved a liar so long as they obtained positive evidence against Eyster.

They went to headquarters to enlist the assistance of the police in searching for a taxicab that had made a trip to Absalom's on the previous Tuesday.

While they were there, additional information was forthcoming. It transpired that when Eyster's name was first brought into the case a headquarters detective named Pently had been assigned to look up his antecedents. The trail had led him to Canandaigua, a town in New York state, from which he had just now returned. The commissioner had him in to tell Bonniger what he had gathered. It was all in a day's work for Pently. He told his story without a trace of feeling.

"Eyster up to a couple of years ago was a manufacturer of straw hats
in New York state and doing well.
He had a hard life when young and couldn't marry until he was above 40."

"He marries a girl that worked for him in the factory. A sweet, pretty, gentle kind of a girl. She was poor and he gives her the nice things she never had before. For a couple of years they were as happy
as a pair of clams at high water, though she was 25 years younger than him. Built an elegant little home and all."

"Then she gets to running around with a slick, showy kind of guy, the usual thing. It was going on some time before Eyster gets on to it.
When the show-down comes, she runs off with the slick guy, leaving Eyster flat. He went through hell. And that wasn't the worst of it, because a year later she comes back to her husband sick and ready to die. This slick fellow, it seems, was an out-and-out swine. Treated the girl something awful. The folks didn't know his name."

"He takes his wife back and gets doctors and nurses and all. But she dies anyhow and Eyster they says wasn't never no good after that.
He sells his business and just bums around. They said when the money was spent they reckoned he would just jump off a wharf somewhere.
But his sole aim and desire was to get square with that slick guy before he died."

The hard-boiled grin with which this story was told somehow gave it a sharper edge for Neill. Taken with what he knew already, it was certainly true, and his feelings towards Eyster underwent a change.
He and Bonniger exchanged a look and each knew what the other was thinking.

The poor little devil! Who could blame him for shooting the man who had wronged him so?

Both Eliminated?

As Bonniger and Neill proceeded to the Lord Baltimore hotel, Bonniger said:

"Had you heard any of this?"
"No details, but I had guessed there was something of this sort in his life."

"But if it was Eyster, where does the girl come in?"

Nevertheless at that moment they both felt that they were about to solve their case, and they were almost friends again.

In the hotel all this good feeling was shattered. In answer to Bon-niger's question, the clerk said:

"Mr. Eyster checked out at nine o'clock Tuesday morning."

Neill stared at him incredulously. "Are you sure?" he demanded.
"Absolutely. I said goodbye to him when he left."

"Was he tight?" asked Bonniger.
"Oh, no. Sober as a judge."
Bonniger had left word at police headquarters that he could be found at the Lord Baltimore and he was now called to the phone.

Neill waited outside the booth in a state of blank discouragement.

If Buckless and Eyster were both eliminated, where was he to look for Fanning's killer?

Bonniger said on coming out:
"The police have found the taxi-driver who took Eyster down to Absalom's on Tuesday morning."
"So that lets Eyster out," said Neill dully.

"Not altogether. The taxi-driver said he was sober. Why should he lie unless he was implicated?"
"The man who shot Fanning was carried down on the yacht."

"That's an interesting theory.
But, after all, the crumbs of bread and tobacco are not conclusive.
I'm convinced that Eyster had something to do with it."

"That didn't help Neill any. He knew now that Eyster was innocent of the killing."

While they were talking a bell-boy came by. It was the boy that Neill had talked to on his first visit to the Lord Baltimore. The boy recognized him and grinned.
"Hare yeh, mister? Well, that big guy Fanning that you was asking me about, he got his, didn't he?

The crazy little guy that was talking to you, he beat it next day. It would be a great note, wouldn't it, if it was him got Fanning?"

Neill stared hard at the boy.
"You've got me wrong, kid. I never heard of Fanning until he was killed."

"My mistake," he said with a grin, and started on.

But Bonniger had overheard, and Neill without looking at him, knew how he was hardening.

"One moment," Bonniger said to the boy. "Give me your name, please. I may want to call you later. My name's Bonniger."

The boy, scared now, gave his name. "I don't know nothing."
"All right. Beat it."

He lost no time in obeying.

"Come on," said Bonniger to Neill without looking around.

DOHERTY, LEGION HEAD, OUTLINES HIS OBJECTIVES

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Daniel J. Doherty, stocky Woburn, Massachusetts, attorney and veteran of the navy, took command of the American Legion today with a promise there would be no "raids on the national treasury" during the next year.

Speaking just before he sailed for France at midnight to take part in the veterans' pilgrimage to World war battlefields, the newly-elected national commander likewise counseled legionnaires to take their stands on labor controversies "as private citizens, not as legionnaires."

"The American Legion and each individual legionnaire must preserve law and order when called upon by the legal authorities," Doherty said. He specified, however, that "no individual post or department has the right to decide who is right or wrong in such disputes."

The new commander said the Legion's policies will be carried out by the national executive committee according to the dictates of the convention, but added that:

"First of all, the promotion of Americanism will be my objective. Secondly, will come placing the wives of veterans on the same level as wives of veterans of previous wars in receiving pensions. There will be, however, no 'raids on the national treasury' for further pensions."

Lay Cornerstone at Caledonia Museum

A simple yet impressive ceremony marked the cornerstone laying at the Caledonia Conservation museum at Caledonia park Thursday morning.

More than 200 persons crowded around the site of the construction of the building, a short distance north of Caledonia on the Pine Grove road.

THREE SURE FACTS
Three things are sure—who seeks to win
Must have the courage to begin;
Must start against what odds defy.
And, win or lose, set out to try.

That law is first—he makes no gains
Who safe and sure at home remains.
The second law—"Twist base and top
Each man decides where he will stop.

Once started on the upward climb,
He picks his quitting place and time.

'Tis his to say against despair
How much his will and strength can bear.

But once he drops his sword and shield
He walks a loser from the field.

The third law is, till hope be gone,
While strength remains to carry on.
To fight it out, whatever the test,
And make the victor beat your best.

For who holds on through thick and thin
Has given himself a chance to win.

Mother, 73; Son, 51, Die in Suicide Pact

Warren, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP).—A 73-year-old invalid mother and her son died in a suicide pact carried out in a lonely clearing 12 miles southeast of Warren, Coroner Ed Lowry reported today.

Missing since Wednesday, Mrs. Kate Hue and the son, Harold Hue, a 51-year-old retired business man of Warren, were found asphyxiated in their parked automobile Thursday night.

A hose led from the exhaust pipe to the driver's seat, Lowry said, and the two apparently had been dead for 24 hours.

Warren Kaye, regional director of the NYA, which is sponsoring the work, presided instead of Aubrey Williams, executive director of the NYA. Mr. Williams was unexpectedly detained at Washington on official business.

SENATOR QUILTS G. O. P. GROUP

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP).—U. S. Senator James J. Davis stepped out of the Republican state executive committee on the eve of a meeting which had been heralded as the beginning of the party's rejuvenation.

While leaders were gathering for what was to have been a "harmony" session, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette announced Thursday night that Davis had resigned and that he intended to put up "a candidate of his own for state chairman with a fiery attack on present party chieftains."

The report of Davis' resignation was confirmed at Washington by Frank K. Boal, secretary to the Senator. At Chicago, Davis, who has been mentioned both as a candidate to succeed himself and as a successor to Governor George H. Earle, declined to confirm or deny the report.

"Tell them to see the state chairman," he said, just before leaving for Pennsylvania. G. Edward Green has been acting as state chairman since M. Harvey Taylor's resignation several months ago.

Leaders already at Altoona had little to say about the development. Davis is to address a "home rule" meeting tonight, and Dr. David Kauffman, Blair county chairman, said "about all" he could do would be wait for the rest of the party leaders and see what happens at the "home rule" session.

OBJECTIVES, NOT METHODS, F. D. R. CONCERN

Aboard Roosevelt Train Enroute to Seattle, Sept. 24 (AP).—President Roosevelt, with five unscheduled talks to as many Iowa depot audiences behind him, traveled across Nebraska toward Wyoming for more speeches today after asserting he was "not in love with any particular methods" so long as he achieved the objectives of his program.

His first step for a platform appearance today was Cheyenne, Wyoming, home of Senator O'Mahoney, Democratic foe of his Supreme Court enlargement proposal.

Senator O'Mahoney said at Cheyenne Thursday night he had hurried home from an eastern trip to be on hand for the President's visit. He added he had not received an invitation to accompany Mr. Roosevelt on the latter's trip through Wyoming.

Two more appearances were scheduled for Wyoming later in the day—one at Wendover for 15 minutes and the other for an hour at Casper, home of Senator Schwartz, Democratic advocate of the defeated court plan.

Crowds ranging from a few hundred to several thousand turned out to greet the President and Mrs. Roosevelt in Iowa with noisy demonstrations from mid-afternoon at Clinton, on the east, to Carroll, reached long after dark.

He repeated time and again he was not making a campaign trip, but was out to see things and hear of conditions first hand—"some-time Presidents should do once a year."

It was at Marshalltown, Iowa, that he made his longest speech and referred to objectives being more important than methods.

After asserting stabilization of farm prices was one of his aims and adding a belief this could be done "without bankrupting the government," he added.

"On this trip I am talking to many people about methods to be used in obtaining these ends."

"You know, a lot of people mix up objectives with methods and, sometimes, when they don't like the objectives, they say, 'Oh, yes, we do like the objectives, but we don't like the methods proposed by this particular fellow."

"Well, I am not in love with any particular methods, but I am in love with the particular objectives which the people are after and I am after."

The term "baker's dozen" dates back to early English days when tradesmen, fearing anti-fraud laws, often gave 13 articles to a dozen.

Marines are called "leathernecks" because in the early days of the organization a leather stock was part of the uniform.
